

Our People

We bring expertise and experience to every engagement. Every consultant in our team has a record of successful delivery in their field of expertise and holds relevant qualifications. They all have a minimum of 10 years industry and public practice experience, with an average across the firm of 18 years. Kingston Smith Consulting is a firm believer in the development of its staff and each professional receives at least 40 hours technical training per annum to ensure they remain up to date.

Biographies of our partners and senior staff are available to the left.
